American Bar Association Business Law Section
Cyber and Technology Law Institute and Winter Working Meeting
Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad College of Law
3300 University Avenue, Fort Lauderdale FL 33328
January 23-25, 2025

Symposium Summary

The NSU Shepard Broad College of Law Goodwin Program for Society, Technology and the Law will host a CLE Program entitled 2025 Cyber and Technology Law Institute on January 24-25, live and in-person at the Shepard Broad College of Law. The CLE portion of the program will run 8:30 – 3:30 on Friday, January 24th and 9:00 – 12:45 on Saturday, January 25th.

Description:

The NSU Shepard Broad College of Law Goodwin Program for Society, Technology and the Law is collaborating with the American Bar Association Business Law Section Cyberspace Law committee to offer CLE programs focusing on deep dives into the most critical topics facing business lawyers involved with cyber activities, including privacy, cybersecurity, artificial intelligence, international trade and cooperation, fintech and payments, digital media, cryptocurrency, and more.

Since 1999, the Cyberspace Law Committee has been working on issues of privacy, cybersecurity, e-commerce, digital media, fintech, payments, blockchain, crypto, international transfers on data, federated identity, intellectual property, artificial intelligence, robotics and a wide range of related topics. Each year the committee partners with law schools around the country to offer its institute as an opportunity for lawyers across all aspects of the technology spectrum to engage with each other and participate in discussions involving the changing regulations and business practices in the related fields.

Consistent with CLE Accreditation Standard 5.01(a)(1), this program is designed to have significant intellectual or practical content aimed at increasing or maintaining the attorney's professional competence and skills as a lawyer through the focus on legal strategies to increase compliance in the health care sector. The level of activity is Intermediate [CLE Accreditation Standard 5.01(c)] because it assumes that all participants have a basic understanding of the issues involved, while other participants may have more than just a basic understanding.

Each of the topics involves practical and regulatory considerations of legal technologies and the technologies impacting the laws in the fields practiced.

CLE Programs – Time Schedule

Day 1: Friday, January 24, 2025
8:00 am	Continental Breakfast
8:15-8:30 am	Opening Session	Welcome and remarks about the upcoming programs and working sessions.
8:30-9:30 am	CLE 1: The Year of Cyber Law in Review in Privacy and Cybersecurity	Andrew C. Alleyne, Partner, Fasken Martineau DuMoulin LLP, Toronto, Ontario Canada Lewis Dolezal, Jr., Marysville, OH Katy Keohane, SafeGuard Privacy, New York, NY John Rothchild, Wayne State University Law School, Detroit, MI Michael Simon, Law Plus Data, LLC, Boston, MA Roland Trope, Trope and Schramm LLP, New York, NY Description: This program will highlight the most significant events, cases, and trends in Cyberlaw in 2024 as we look ahead to 2025. The discussion will include (1) current status of the types of cybersecurity threats and attacks; (2) ransomware’s continued role in the global threat landscape, including not only traditional methods but emerging new threats through other channels, and the resulting legal and policy issues affecting both the public and private sectors; (3) the emergence of ransomware-as-a-service and the development of other “business models” involving the sale and support of ransomware functions; (4) artificial intelligence applications that impact privacy, security, and the regulatory environment; and (5) legislative and regulatory initiatives.
9:30-10:30 am	CLE 2: The Year of Cyber Law in Review in AI and Robotics	Ted Claypoole Womble Bond Dickinson LLP, Atlanta, GA William Denny, Potter Anderson & Corroon LLP, Wilmington, DE Lisa R. Lifshitz, Partner, Torkin Manes LLP, Toronto, ON, Canada Lois Mermelstein, McDermott Will & Emery, Austin, TX

		Description: This CLE program offers a comprehensive examination of the past year's significant legal developments in artificial intelligence law. Attendees will explore key court decisions, legislative actions, and regulatory changes that have shaped the rapidly evolving landscape of AI law. The course will cover issues such as AI liability, algorithmic bias, ethical considerations, privacy, and the challenges of regulating AI systems. Experts will discuss landmark cases, new state and federal laws, and international regulatory trends. Participants will gain valuable insights into the legal implications of AI technologies, preparing them to navigate this dynamic field and advise clients effectively in the coming year.
10:30-10:45 am	Break
10:45-11:45 am	CLE 3: Navigating the Crossroads of Cybersecurity and IP Law: Analyzing Top Cyber Threats Against Internal Company IP and Response Strategies After a Breach	Heidi Tandy, Berger Singerman, Ft. Lauderdale, FL Description: Losing IP to cyber theft could evaporate a company's competitive advantage and threaten its future. This CLE will explore common cyber threats to IP, including data breaches, phishing attacks, and insider threats. It also will discuss key proactive measures for mitigating cyber risks and safeguarding sensitive intellectual property assets; developing incident response plans tailored to rapidly address breaches involving intellectual property theft or compromise; enforcing IP rights in the face of cyber threats; and ascertaining if and how the stolen IP can be potentially modified or redeveloped to regain a competitive space in the market.
11:45 am-1:15 pm	Lunch
1:15-2:15 pm	CLE 4: Regulating Relationships Between Banks and FinTechs: Synapse, Evolve and the Regulators	Sarah Jane Hughes, University Scholar and Fellow, Indiana University Maurer School of Law, Bloomington, IN Stephen T. Middlebrook, Principal, Middlebrook LLC, Atlanta, GA Tom Kierner, Senior Counsel, PayPal, Inc., Ft Lauderdale, FL Description: In early 2023, Synapse Financial Technologies, a fintech company that provided middleware services connecting banks and other providers, filed for bankruptcy. Many consumers lost access to funds entrusted to Synapse and its clients and supposedly held on deposit at Evolve Bank. Investigations revealed that Synapse and Evolve disagree by over $80 million on how much money is owed to consumers and it is still unclear where much

		of that money went. This program will explore the problems at Synapse and Evolve, the response (or lack thereof) from regulators, and why FDIC insurance hasn't been responsive in this case. We will address several regulatory changes that have been proposed in light of Synapse and discuss whether those changes will actually address the problem.
2:15-3:30 pm	CLE 5: Fan Fiction in Transformation in the Digital Media, Gaming & Entertainment Subcommittee [Florida CLE only]	Heidi Tandy, Berger Singerman, Ft. Lauderdale, FL Jon M. Garon, Director and Professor of Law, Nova Southeastern University College of Law, Ft Lauderdale, FL Susan Stephan, University of Cincinnati College of Law, Cincinnati, OH Description: The subcommittee will look at the intersection of fan fiction with the use of AI-based authoring tools and other user generated content issues. Participants will discuss the use of block chain to address authorship and authenticity, the copyright implications of fan authored text and visual works, and other aspects of user generated content in the rapidly changing AI and metaverse environments. The subcommittee will also be exploring new topics, particularly those that offer opportunities to cover topics not addressed by the AI & Robotics committee as well as to collaborate with that committee and other ABA Sections (IP, Sci. Tech, etc.).

Day 2: Saturday, January 25, 2025
8:30 am	Continental Breakfast
9:00-11:30 am	CLE 6: M&A Table Top Exercise Addressing Cybersecurity, Privacy, and Corporate Considerations	Steven Teppler, Mandelbaum Barrett PC, Boca Raton, FL Franklin Zemel, Saul Ewing LLP, Ft. Lauderdale, FL Description: This hands-on 2.5-hour workshop will explore how experienced business law attorneys navigate the complex intersection of cybersecurity, privacy, and corporate transactions. Through engaging real-world scenarios, including HIPAA-regulated companies, SEC compliance challenges, and cross-border data storage, you'll work in teams to tackle the most pressing cybersecurity issues in service agreement negotiations, M&A transactions, and post-closing risk management. Gain actionable insights on negotiating key terms, identifying hidden risks, and protecting your clients from escalating cyber threats—all while earning CLE credits.
11:30-11:45 am	Break
11:45 am-12:45 pm	CLE 7: Crypto and Blockchain	Josh Lida, JoAnn Hoffman & Associates, P.A., Lauderdale-By-The-Sea, FL Daniel Tramel Stabile, Partner, Winston & Strawn LLP, Partner, Miami, FL Andrew "Drew" Hinkes, Partner, Winston & Strawn LLP, Miami, FL Jessica Neer McDonald, Neer McD PLLC, Miami, FL Description: This CLE program examines the evolving regulatory environment for cryptocurrency and blockchain technology along with the expanded uses of non-fungible tokens in arts and commercial settings.
